New Hurricane Races Along East Coast

BOSTON. — The season's fourth hurricane raced northward 400 miles off shore today and the weatherman said there was "no chance" of its striking the northeast mainland still sweeping up from Tuesday's disastrous blow.

Hurricane Dolly, a fast traveler, almost parallel to the coast, churning Atlantic shipping lanes. Ships moved under hurricane warnings, but the weather bureau said short areas would feel no effects of the violent storm.

The weather bureau said in an advisory at 8 a.m. EDT that the storm was centered 400 miles east of the eastern tip of Long Island, moving northward at 35 to 40 miles per hour. Gale winds were reported to 200 miles east and 100 miles west of its center.

The violent winds of hurricane Dolly were expected to diminish gradually to about 75 miles an hour, weather experts said. But they warned that the area of gales would be as the winds diminished.

Winds Diminish

Earlier reports said the hurricane packed 115 miles an hour winds. These gradually diminished to 100 miles an hour shortly before dawn today.

The new storm followed a course somewhat east of hurricane Carol which turned inland suddenly from the Atlantic and went on a 500 million dollar spree of destruction over eight states.

The old storm left 53 dead and 14 missing in its wake and damage estimates climbed steadily.

Weather forecasters said the new hurricane showed no immediate signs of striking land but a hurricane expert added that "these things are tricky and we have to be careful."

Spawned Off Florida

Like Carol the new hurricane was spawned off the southern coast of Florida. It started as an easterly wave of squalls near the Dominican Republic and developed the crushing circular motion of a hurricane after moving across the Bahamas.

Have created by Carol was evident in nearly every seaside community from New Jersey north to the Canadian border.

Governors in all New England states called out National Guardsmen, state and local police, and Civil Defense workers to deal with emergencies created by the storm's wrath.

Gov. Dennis J. Roberts declared a state of emergency in Rhode Island, the state hardest hit by hurricane Carol. Other states blasted by 125 mile an hour winds in the storm included Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, and Vermont.

Sale Of Dog Tags Lags In State

FRANKFORT. — Commissioner of Agriculture Ben S. Adams said today the sale of dog tags lagging in some sections of the state.

A fiscal courts in some counties have been extremely slow in applying for the tags. Since the war, dog tags have been sold in some counties, but not in others.

Department of Agriculture reported that $3,000 dog tags have been distributed for 80 of the state's 120 counties. Adams said many counties are making "splendid progress" in the licensing and inoculation of dogs.

He singled out nine counties for special praise, with Jefferson County heading the list with 10,000 tags. Others include Jackson, 2,000; Franklin, Hart and Crittenden, 1,500 each; Logan and Clark, 1,200; Pulaski, 3,000 and Muhlenberg, 1,600.

Housewives Cheer Drive Against Delinquency

FRANKFORT, Germany. — Housewives who jeered Col. John R. Dilley when he banned slacks and shorts last month cheered him today for his drive on juvenile delinquency.

Dilley presided Wednesday night at a community meeting he called to consider how to keep the children of U. S. servicemen and officials in Frankfurt off the streets and gainfully occupied.

Several hundred officers, enlisted men, civilian employees and their wives showed up to discuss the situation as parents and neighbors with a common problem.

Those who came were enthusiastic. They approved Dilley's idea for a "Parent-Youth Association," adopted a constitution and organized work committees.

However, Dilley, who won fame when he told the female dependents of the men of his command that they'd have to dress like ladies and not like scarecrows with shorts, slacks and bare midriffs, said he frankly was disappointed by the crowd.

"We've started slowly," he said, "but this thing is going to catch on."

"Either we're going to have a place where the kids can let off steam," he said, "or they'll wander the streets and get into trouble."

He said there is a wealth of facilities for the area's 4,500 American youngsters, adding that "all we need is your help."

Here Is How New Social Security Law Affects You

WASHINGTON. — Here's what the Social Security bill signed by President Eisenhower late Wednesday will mean to you:

If you are a farm worker, you are one of the 10 million new persons to come under Social Security providing you make $100 a year or more from the same employer.

If you are a domestic worker, you come under the program when you receive $50 or more from an employer during a calendar quarter — any three month period.

If you are an accountant, engineer, architect, or a government worker not covered by Civil Service retirement, you also come under the Social Security program.

Under the new law, Social Security benefits are boosted from $5 to $23.50 a month. Taxes to finance the expanded program are also higher. Here's how the higher benefits and taxes affect you:

Benefits Increased

If you are eligible for retirement benefits when you reach 65, or if you are already receiving them, your monthly payment will be at least $5 higher than at present. The top increase for a retired worker will be $23.50 a month and maximum family benefits will rise from $18.75 a month to $200.

Under the old program, you and your employer paid Social Security taxes on the first $3,600 you made. Now taxes will be paid on the first $4,200.

Starting the first of next year, you will pay $84 instead of the present $72 if you make $4,200 or more a year. On Jan. 1, 1960, the new 10 percent tax rate on both you and your employer will raise you to 2 1/2 percent.

Higher Earnings Allowed

If you are already retired, your benefit check will go up next month. You'll get anywhere between $30 and $38.50 instead of the present benefit which ranges between $25 and $85.

And, if you're retired, you can earn more money than before and still receive Social Security benefits. Previously, you could earn up to $75 a month. Now the maximum is $1,200 a year.

There is now no limitation at all on your earnings after you reach the age of 72. Previously, the line was drawn at 75.

If you retire in the future, your benefits each month can go as high as $108.50.

Not long after he got it, he lost control while driving, his treasure along the Bronx River highway just before dawn. Grade Schools Of Nation Have Run Into Worst Housing Shortage In Their History

By JACK V. FOX
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK. — America's public grade schools have run into the worst housing shortage in their history and the situation probably will get worse before it gets better.

Cities across the nation are engaged in heavy building programs but each year the crop of youngsters gets bigger and bigger, outmoding plans considered adequate a few years back.

A 20-city survey shows that the elementary system's classroom shortage is even more critical than the lack of qualified teachers.

So next week the grade schools will resort again to all sorts of makeshift tactics — attendance in shifts, elementary classes held in high schools, renting shops and stores, use of churches and synagogues and widespread employment of steel-framed, portable buildings.

A few cities are meeting their problem. Portland, Maine, for example, started its expansion program in 1946. Memphis is completing 18 new buildings right now. Hartford, Conn., will be able to find regular building space for all its students.

But they are the exceptions. Here is a sampling of the picture across the nation.

In New York City 60,000 children are deprived of full day of education because of the building shortage. In addition, the age for first grade admission has been raised from 5 years, 4 months to 5 years, 8 months. As a result some 30,000 children will have to wait.

In Cleveland, students are going to school in two shifts. Some pupils start at 7:30 a.m., the second shift doesn't finish until 5 p.m. Some classes are being held in cafeterias.

Move Into High Schools

Chicago has moved a number of grade school classes into the less crowded high schools. They come with their teachers and use the same method.

When the rod is brought near the cabinet, the neutrons will strike bits of uranium, causing the uranium atoms to split or "fission."

The pointer of a counter recording the fissions will then trip a relay, shutting off an electrical current by Duquesne Light Co. will begin at noon EDT on Labor Day.

President To Change Fishing Rod To "Fission" Rod

PITTSBURGH. — President Eisenhower will exchange his fishing rod for an atomic "fission" rod on Labor Day to break ground by remote control for the nation's first peacetime atomic power plant at Shippingport, Pa.

Atomic engineers explained here that the President will wave a radioactive rod through a cabinet jammed with electronic devices to activate a power shovels nearly 2,000 miles away at the plant site.

The remote control shovel then will dig the first chunk of earth for the $5 million dollar plant at a site 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Engineers of Westinghouse Electric Corp. will construct the nuclear reactor for the power plant and it will be appropriate to use nuclear fission to signal the beginning of construction on the project since it will be run by the same method.

Rev. Lyles To Begin Series

Rev. Paul T. Lyles will begin a series of sermons Sunday night on the general theme, "Let's Know Our Church." This series is planned to help, not only Methodists, but all those who desire to know the meaning and work of the church in the world today.

There are those, according to this pastor, who think of the church as it was yesterday. There are those who think that the church oversteps its rightful work. There are others who think that the church does nothing. There are many who think that the church should be united. Others are proud of sharp divisions.

Mr. Lyles will address himself to many of the questions as he begins the series on Sunday night. Some of the themes are:

"It Is Important to Know Your Church."

"The Church in The Beginning."

"The Church and Ourselves."

"The Achievements of Your Church."

"Your Church and Its Divisions."

"Your Church and The State."

Firemen Are Called To Story Avenue

Firemen were called this morning to 700 Story avenue however a small gas fire at the residence had been extinguished when they arrived.

No damage, resulted from the "Your Church and The State," blaze, firemen said.

Kirksey High Well On Way To Starting New School Year

Kirksey High School started its 1954-55 school term off with a "bang" when Mr. Robert Miller addressed parents and students at 9:30 August 23. Many parents accompanied their children for the opening exercises and their presence was appreciated by Principal M. B. Rogers and faculty.

Rev. J. J. Gough gave the morning devotion.

Despite the week's heat, enrollment has been large and attendance very good. Most classes have organized and started plans for years' activities. Seniors are unusually proud of their 30 and have so far braggied of being the largest recent Senior Class of Kirksey.

They chose as their sponsor for the eventful year Principal M. B. Rogers. Shelby Parker was elected President, and her co-workers are Vice President, Gerald Stout; Secretary, Charles Coleman; Treasurer, Sue Beach; and Reporter, Billy Smith.

To climax the week's work their class rings are being guided by Bobby Hugh Wilson. Friday and much "ring showing" was prevalent to underclassmen.

The Junior Class started a long struggle Monday morning with past Junior Class work as their guide. Bobby Hugh Wilson was selected as President; Jerry Bazzell, Vice-President; Thelma Gray, Secretary; Chester Reeder, Treasurer; Sonja Greenfield, Reporter; and Mr. Harvey Ellis as Sponsor. Mr. Ellis was out most of the week, ill, and Dr. Dawson substituted as Agriculture teacher.

The Sophomores have 28 enrolled this year and have selected a very fine motto for their year's guide, "Push, pull or get out of the way." Their officers are: President, Barbara Washer; Vice-President, Jackie Garrison; Secretary, Linda Lawson; Treasurer, Zenette Gray; Reporter, Margaret Housden; and Miss Anna Millred Lassiter, Sponsor.

Only 20 Freshmen saw fit to enter school this year, but they took their place with upper classmen and selected as sponsor Mrs. A. D. Butterworth. For officers they chose Brenda Utsey, President; Leona Lawrence, Vice-President; Phyllis Adams, Secretary; Martha Lamb, Treasurer; Linda Hale, Reporter.

The 8th Grade ranks as largest in number this year, 40. They chose Mr. Rex Watson, coach, as sponsor. President, Linda Fay Watkins; Vice-President, Annette Palmer; Secretary, Glenda Suter; Treasurer, Dana Gray; and Reporter, Kay Tucker.

Mrs. Yandall Wraether, Home Economics, will sponsor 9th Grade this year. Betty Smith, President; Gary Simmons, Vice-President; Larry Ray, Secretary; Coleman Reeder, Treasurer; and Mickey Smith, Reporter, will lead the class in its year ahead.

Not only did classes get organized but each grade room reported.

Mrs. Lillie Farris says 34 "little new fellows" have been present every day and seem to be enjoying their work.

Mrs. Yordon Tucker, in the absence of Mrs. Cody Caldwell, who has been ill, has successfully started the second grade on its 54-55 path. The third grade reports 39 pupils with Miss Halene Smith as teacher. A large bulletin board has been added to her room.

Miss Johnny McCallon has 25 in the fourth grade, and much time has been spent in sharing vacation experiences and getting material for year.

The fifth grade, with Mrs. Thyra Crawford have been getting acquainted and improving appearance of room with new curtains, potted plants and pictures. They are studying magnets, performing experiments, and are planning a new reading corner.

Mrs. M. B. Rogers has enrolled 33 in the sixth grade. Jimmy Cole, Dale Adams, Joe Baker and Janice Bazzell joined class from Coldwater. Brenda Crouse was elected as President of class. Betty Adams, Jennifer Riley, Ronald Crouse was Vice-President, and Secretary, unable to be with the group because of mastoid.

Shelby Parker, Barbara Washer, Zenette Gray, Betty Johnson and cheerleaders for the school year. Much repair work has been done around school. Many new shelves placed in various rooms and complete renovation of Home Economics room is still underway. All of this with Mr. Rex Watson as teacher, and Mrs. Taz Ezell, secretary of school, being added to school, everyone is expecting an outstanding school year.

The Kirksey P.T.A. will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, Sept. 8. All parents are invited to become members and help "boost" the school.

Executive Board PTA Has Meeting

The first meeting of the executive board of the Murray High School P.T.A. was held on Wednesday, Sept. 1, with the president, Mrs. Charles M. Baker, in charge.

The meeting was called to order by the president and introduction of the officers and committee chairman for the school year was made.

They are: president, Mrs. Charles M. Baker; vice-president, Mrs. Cecil Farris; secretary, Mrs. Gail Cordrey; treasurer, Mrs. Al Kipp; members of board, ex-officio: Superintendent W. Z. Carter and Principal W. B. Moser; program, Mrs. Hugo Wilson; health, Mrs. Kenneth Ross; safety, Dennis Taylor; membership, Miss Kathleen Patterson; home room, Mrs. Lynn Lassiter; Cub Scouts, Mrs. Walter Blackburn; parent education, Mrs. Haron West; publication, Mrs. Hubert Jackson, Jr.; lunch room, Mrs. Albert Enix; publicity, Mrs. Merritt Marife; historian, Mrs. Richard Tuck; finance, Mr. and Mrs. William Nall; radio, Mrs. Thomas Crider; hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. Kirk and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Castello; band, Mrs. Buford Ford; moral and spiritual guidance, Mrs. S. E. Elyer; and Mrs. Harold Douglas; library, Mrs. Robert Moyer; Mother Singers, Mrs. Robert Miller; juvenile delinquent, Mrs. C. C. Lowery; recording secretary, Mrs. A. A. Doherty.

Reports were heard from the various officers and committee chairmen. The treasurer, Mrs. Al Kipp, gave a report on the P.T.A. finances. Mrs. Kenneth Ross reported that the pre-scholarship check-up of the first, fifth and ninth grades is almost completed.

The board voted to recommend to the general meeting of the P.T.A. that the popcorn popper purchased by the band be paid for by the P.T.A.

Superintendent W. Z. Carter made a brief speech and brought out the fact that P.T.A.'s primary objective was to create public opinion in the interest of child welfare. The meeting was then adjourned by the president.

When it comes to suicide schedules, there is about tips for 1954.

Each of them will have to face six opponents who figure to wind up among the nation's 20 finest teams.

All schedules look like suicide this time of the year, but no other teams must face as many potential "first 20's" as Southern Methodist, Iowa, Purdue, California and Washington State whose schedules include five of the potential top 20.

4 Important Reasons why you should buy a PONTIAC RIGHT NOW!

1 Pontiac is One of the Greatest Cars Ever Built!
Match today's Pontiac with America's finest cars and you'll get a dramatic picture of Pontiac value. First of all, Pontiac is bigger, in fact, than many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Pontiac is beautiful—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling. Inside, you'll find genuine fine-car luxury and appointments—along with the roominess and comfort that come only with a long wheelbase. But the big surprise comes when you test Pontiac's performance. See how alert it is to every demand in traffic, how it handles and corners almost without effort, how it takes to the open road with plenty of power to spare and saves money every mile.

2 Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!
Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade.

3 Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!
After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see how it compares dollar-wise. Despite the fact that it's a fine car in every sense of the term, Pontiac is priced so near the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac.

4 We'll Make You a Deal You Can't Afford to Miss!
Right now we're making such liberal trade-in allowances that you just can't afford to pass up the greatest opportunity you ever had to become a fine-car owner. Come in and get the facts.

2000 Fall Each Year From Hunters

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Every year, some 2,000 hunters are felled by stray bullets fired by careless fellow hunters. About 1 out of every 10 of these mishaps is fatal. Maybe that sorry record will be improved before long through education of our young.

Last week at Camp Perry, Ohio, the National Rifle Association, in cooperation with the National Education Association, put a hundred boys from all over the country through a safety course. Among the students were representatives of state conservation and fish and game departments and private hunters interested in saving life and limb.

The students themselves know how to handle a .22 calibre rifle, a pistol or one of the more dangerous weapons such as deer and antelope guns.

Tough Gun Handling
The "school" was supervised by top men in the hunting and wildlife fields. The chief aim was to train youths in how to handle a gun before they ever set out on a hunt.

Children, with proper escorts, went out in pairs down a simulated hunting course, carrying 22 calibre rifles. Artificial targets in the shape of rabbits and birds popped up in front of brush patches and other hazards.

Maj. Gen. Merritt A. Edson, USMC Ret., executive director of the National Rifle Association, gives these simple rules for safe hunting.

Simple Rules
Treat every gun as if it were loaded, unless you have personally inspected it to see that it is not.

Watch your muzzle. Make sure that your gun never points at anything you do not intend to shoot.

Be sure of your target. Don't shoot your partner... make sure it is legal game before you fire.

Be sure of your backstop. Know where your bullet will stop. Don't fire over the brow of a hill or where ricochet can cause harm.

Be careful when crossing fences. If you are hunting with someone, let one man climb through and then hand the gun to him, muzzle out.

If alone, place the gun through the fence, then cross at another portion of the fence, and pick it up after you get through — with the muzzle pointed away from you at all times.

Know your gun and ammunition. Be sure your gun is clean and in good condition. Use only the proper ammunition designed for your gun.

Remember you are the guest of the land owner. Don't shoot his cows or chickens — or him.

DELAYED CONFIRMATION
HOLYOKE, Mass. — Mrs. Helen Gordon, owner of a travel service here, received a post card from the Furness-Bermuda line confirming a Bermuda trip reservation for a local couple. The card was postmarked, "New York City Jan. 25, 1938."

EMBARRASSED CHIEF
MIDDLEBURY, Vt. — Fire Chief Kenneth Caul awoke and saw a red glare behind his barn. He turned in an alarm, reporting the barn fire. The "blaze" turned out to be the reflection of warning fires at a nearby road construction project.

FUTURE COSTS
SALISBURY, Md. — The city council is considering an ordinance raising the cost of fortune teller's licenses from $300 to $500.

Crosby Sheds Out Of Shoulders

Aline Mosby is vacationing in Gary Crosby fills in today with the story of his show "Business As Usual."

By GARY CROSBY
Written For The Ledger Press
HOLLYWOOD — My introduction to the show business would have been much happier if it hadn't been cut short by a case of mumps.

Texas. I was sidetracked for two years. I was seven at the time. My act wasn't much. I used to sing my entire repertoire for the fellows in service. It consisted of "Rose O'Day." I've increased my repertoire since I found people can listen to "Rose O'Day" for just so long. Then they get tired.

My next appearance as a professional took place two years later, in 1942. I was nine years old when Paramount signed me to appear in a supporting role in "Star Spangled Rhythm." My dad was in it too.

Lanny, Phil, Dennis, me and dad. Our wardrobe was very simple. We wore our pajamas and appeared in one scene. I don't think they even let me say two lines in that one.

I was 16 before dad would let me solo with him on his radio show. Barbara Whiting appeared with us, and we had a date after the program. There was a lot of funny dialogue on the show about how upset my dad was to find that I'd grown old enough to have dates with girls and how it was all right with him, but he'd go along as a chaperon.

Two-Line Part

I had a great speaking part. Two lines. The first was "he's in there" and the second was "you've got the wrong Crosby." Paramount didn't call on me again for three years.

Dad His Chaperon
It was pretty funny on the show. But I couldn't find anything to laugh about when dad did come along as chaperon on my real date.

Amateur Tennis Is Suffering

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Amateur tennis, like the pro game, is suffering from the box-office blues for the lack of a standout star.

Crowds have been slim in the early rounds of the U.S. Singles championships because the customers have neither a special hero to cheer nor a villain to hiss. This year's top-flight players have an annoying habit of knocking off each other before any one of them can build up a winning streak worthy of the name. The lad who gets hot from now on, the U.S. has to be no worse than an even bet to regain the Cup this winter," said Alrick Man of the Cup Committee. "It's impossible to predict who will win any time their top men or ours step on the court."

Even Bet For Davis Cup
The way things are going, the U.S. has to be no worse than an even bet to regain the Cup this winter," said Alrick Man of the Cup Committee. "It's impossible to predict who will win any time their top men or ours step on the court."

I really hadn't planned to make a career in show business. I'd always wanted to make my living playing football. But during my freshman year at Stanford I broke first one shoulder, then the other. I ran out of shoulders and had to start singing.

Low Head of Australia generally is conceded to be the top man in the world. Yet in recent weeks Hoad has lost to a 17-year-old Aussie, Roy Emerson, to Jaroslav Drobny and to aging Gardner Mulloy.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, defending his U.S. crown, has lost to players like little Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J., Bernard Bartzen of Dallas, and to Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.

Clark Lost To Moylan
Clark has lost to Moylan and Ham Richardson while Richardson has been licked by Aussie Rex Hartwig and Larsen. Larsen has trouble with the Australians, losing to Hartwig and Hoad in recent weeks.

per from Philadelphia, lost one of his eyes.

Barbizon, who trimmed Trabert and Seixas in the U.S. Clay Courts, has lost to Gil Shea, Neil Fraser of Australia and Sammy Ginnalva. Fraser has been licked over here by Larsen and by young Allen Morris of Atlanta.

Galleries pour out mostly when there's one or possibly two giants in the field. Jack Kramer drew crowds even as a heavy favorite, so did Budge, Vines, and Tilden. If Trabert were to win this one to make it two in a row, it'd be in the giant class next year. Right now, though, he is just one of the boys who has been betting his lumps all too often.

US May Ask West Germany Alignment

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON 4P — The United States may ask its European allies to align West Germany with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization now that France has killed the European army plan, officials disclosed today.

They said they see no other answer to the German rearmament problem at this stage. However, it is understood that President Eisenhower and his National Security Council have not reached any final decision on the explosive problem.

Analysts said the reappraisal of American foreign policies sparked by France's action indicates that future U.S. reliance will be more on free Germany and less on France.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave France an unprecedented scolding Tuesday for killing the European Defense Community plan. Never before had an American Secretary of State talked so bluntly in public about an ally's action on a major foreign policy issue.

Sees Danger To Europe
"It is a tragedy that in one country nationalism, abetted by Communism, has asserted itself so as to endanger the whole of Europe," Dulles said.

Before departing for Manila Tuesday night to draft a defense treaty for Southeast Asia, Dulles said the French destruction of EDC means France "disassociates herself" from a plan she conceived and also from her allied partners. He said the fact that "one of the six EDC countries" objected should not be allowed to kill European unity projects.

In a 1,000-word statement, Dulles said in effect that Germany likes it or not that steps will be taken to seek sovereignty for West Germany, and that American foreign policies in Europe will be overhauled.

Mits Aid Reduction
He hinted that aid to France will be tapered off, and that American troop commitments in Europe may be reduced. But he did not go so far as to call for general U.S. withdrawal from Europe. He said isolation is not the answer.

On the action side, Dulles called for an emergency meeting of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council and quick talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Diplomats said no final plans have been made for the NATO meeting which would consider how to rearm Germany—with or without French approval. But they said a session about Oct. 1 in Europe is likely unless the foreign ministers meet in New York in advance or during the United Nations General Assembly meeting Sept. 21. Dulles is not expected to return from Manila before Sept. 15.

Butterworth-Parks Vows Solemnized In Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss June Butterworth and Mr. Vernon Parks was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Sunday, August 29, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Butterworth of the Lynn Grove Road and Mr. Parks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Parks of Lynn Grove.

Bro. Ernest Clevenger Jr., minister of the College Church of Christ, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The ceremony was held as the couple stood in front of the fireplace. The mantle was adorned with a gorgeous arrangement of pink asters and white chrysanthemums.

The bride looked lovely in her wedding dress of light blue silk shantung with black velvet accessories. Her bridal carriage was composed of white carnations.

Miss Alta Fay Andrus was the bride's only attendant. She wore a rose beige dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mr. Gene Summers of Lexington served as best man for the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose to wear for the wedding a navy dress with navy accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a navy frock with white accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The table was covered with a lovely cloth and centered with the three tiered wedding cake encircled with greenery and white flowers. Miss Julia Hawkins presided at the punch bowl and Miss Cherry Parks sister of the bridegroom, assisted.

Short Jacket With Gentle Curve Shown In The Style Called "Montmartre Silhouette"

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY, United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—The short jacket with the gentle curve is the shape of the future.

Karen Stark, a designer who pioneered in putting molded forms on American fashions, calls her new loose jackets the "Montmartre silhouette." The name was inspired by the artists' outfits on the Left Bank in Paris she says, where the overblouse and short, loose jacket are accepted as part of the scenery.

The designer hasn't deserted the clinging princess dress, but she's joined the new movement to smooth out sharp curves in suits which should make all of us breathe easier in October year.

On the dressy side, the Montmartre shape is used in a black chiffon broadcloth suit by Miss Stark, designer for Harvey Bern.

The neckline is cut low to show the white blouse in a subtle effect. Middy Overblouse

Her second example of the new fashion shape is a two-piece two dress with a short middie overblouse that buttons down the back.

Another designer who concentrates on easing the fashion out in serving.

Mrs. Parks is a graduate of the Murray Training School and attended Murray State College the past year. Mr. Parks is a graduate of Lynn Grove High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks left Monday morning for Las Cruces, N. M., where the bridegroom will be entering the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts for his senior year in the field of mechanical engineering.

Doherty Home Scene Of August Meeting Of The Lydian Class

The August meeting of the Lydian Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church was held on the lawn of the home of Mrs. A. A. Doherty.

Mrs. Eugene Shipley was the guest speaker for the evening. Her very interesting and inspirational talk was on "Talents." Mrs. Shipley is the Young People's Director of the Women's Missionary Society of the church.

Miss Louise Terry, president, presided at the meeting. A nominating committee was appointed to select a slate of officers for the new church year.

During the social hour Mrs. E. E. Kelley and her group served a dessert course to the members and guests present.

look uses wool and tweed pull-overs combined with trouser skirts and hand-drawn shirts. Carolyn Schurmer calls this the chanel silhouette. She showed her easy-going daytime clothes with rope necklaces of baroque pearls and gold links.

The combination of heavy jewelry and casual sportswear is all part of the latest new look. So far, however, there is no sign that any look is about to take over as completely as the long skirts and natural shoulder line did after World War II.

Still Appear Thin

Designers have provided plenty of feminine, fitted suits and hand-some silk dresses that have tucks, pleats and fashers and still appear graceful and slim. Sheer fabrics in both wool and silk have made possible the widest selection of flattering Sunday-best dresses in many a year.

More suits are shown with high-necked blouses that are part of the costume. The jackets are cut to look equally well buttoned or worn open, again to promote the easy, hands-in-pockets look in tail-coat clothes.

Business, one of the leading sportswear designers, sticks to the short, fitted suit jacket and a slim skirt. He likes unusual touches at the neckline like a tucked lace collar or a new kind of chest-plate collar with "interlocking" lapels.

Wool jersey is used more than ever in next winter's dresses, in new sheer weights and new color combinations. One designer combines gray wool jersey with milk-brown taffeta. Charcoal gray ribbed jersey and pale blue chiffon jersey are both used for soft, tailored daytime dresses.

Silk and wool combination fabrics, which were big news last spring, are back again for fall, though more often used for dresses than suits.

One silk and wool fabric is shown in a broad pattern, and another is a green paisley print both used for slim, tailored dresses.

For her wedding the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white embroidered organza over ice blue tulle with a full skirt, round gathered neckline, short cap sleeves, and coming to a point at the waist line. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was attached to a bandeau of embroidered organza. She carried a colonial nosegay of French white carnations and tube roses backed with white net and centered with a purple throatie white orchid caught with streamers of white satin bridal ribbon.

Miss Carolyn Melugin was the only attendant for the bride. She wore an ice blue organza dress fashioned with a round scalloped neckline and sleeves and a full skirt, ballerina length. Her flowers were an exotic modern arrangement of pink chrysanthemums with spirals of pink satin ribbon caught with pink streamers. She wore a bandeau of blue in her hair caught at one side with pink tube roses and ivy leaves.

Mr. David Lyons of Benton, brother of the bride, served as best man for Mr. Watrous. Mr. Isaac Ford of Paducah, brother-in-law of the bride, was the usher.

One Of Biggest Tasks Of U.S. In Asia Is To Combat Communist "Colonial" Propaganda

Veteran United Press Correspondent Ernest Hoberecht analyzes the long and continuing struggle of the United States in support of independence for Asian nations. Hoberecht, U.P. vice president and general manager for Asia, has been reporting Asian affairs for more than a decade. In this dispatch he covers events during the period from 1947 to 1949.

By ERNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO — One of the biggest tasks of the United States in Asia today is to combat Communist propaganda which claims America wants to help the colonial powers protect their holdings. Many American businessmen and other private citizens in Asia believe the U.S. has done badly in the propaganda battle because of the methods used. In many cases the American technique has been to issue statements and operate from impressive offices. Many neutral observers believe this method does not stand a chance against the Communist method of sending people out to talk and convince the man in the street. The Communist method—which might be called the personal approach method—has been more successful. In many cases America's failure to see this has baffled many Asians because they have always thought of Americans as the greatest salesmen in the world. "Enough Material" It is generally agreed throughout Asia that the United States is not losing the battle so far as setting material from America printed abroad. World-wide press associations every day carry to Asia the views of American officials and these views are printed in Asian publications. On the other hand, American officials throughout Asia have told this correspondent from time to time that the U.S. frequently is losing the "local" battles. In such cases it is losing the battle for the minds of men on the scene—important writers, editors, teachers, politicians and others who influence populations with their local output. On the local scene, trained Communist propaganda experts—sneaking the local languages and mingling with the masses—are hammering away on the theme that the United States wants to "colonize and exploit" and is siding with the European colonial powers to prevent Asian peoples from becoming free and independent.

Seek Effective Proof
American officials say they must find an effective way to prove these Communist claims are false and completely fail to take into consideration the facts of history. In its support of Asian independence movements during and after World War II, American officials pointed out, the U.S. always made its position plain in both statements and actions despite its close identification with the colonial powers. The Atlantic Charter, framed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in August, 1941, declared they "respect the right of all people to choose the form of government under which they will live." Although Churchill denied that the Charter applied to India and Burma, it is known that the American President continued to urge that Britain consider increased Indian independence. American Ambassador Louis Johnston, President Roosevelt's personal representative to India, made it known that the U.S. hoped for a liberal political settlement favoring India.

Nehru Visit Called Symbol
When India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru visited the United States in 1949, some observers recognized it as a symbol of President Roosevelt's vision regarding self-government for colonial areas. As early as 1943, it was pointed out by American officials, President Roosevelt had approved certain proposals for dependent territories following the war. One of

Longevity Of Wage Earners 68.9 Years

NEW YORK — Longevity of America's wage-earners and their families has reached an all-time high, it is reported by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The average length of life, based on mortality prevailing in 1953, climbed to 68.9 years for the Company's industrial policyholders, climaxing a decade of successive gains during which their average lifetime increased by five years.

The expectation of life among these insured persons has been rising for more than two generations. Based on mortality in 1879-1889, the average lifetime was only 34 years. By 1900 it was 46.3 years, which was a gain of one-half year of life for each calendar year—a record which has been maintained since that time.

The achievements in life conservation are underscored by the very low death rates now prevailing among children and young adults, the statistician pointed out. The death rate among industrial policy holders as a whole is now less than 1 per 1,000 at ages 3 to 19, and remains under 2 per 1,000 until age 40, and under 10 per 1,000 until age 53. Only 10 years ago the death rates in the 15 to 35 age group were about twice those currently experienced.

"The long-term increase in the average length of life of American wage-earners and their families has been due in large measure to the control of infectious diseases," the statisticians concluded. "However, the cardiovascular-renal diseases and cancer have now come of all deaths. The magnitude of success of the efforts being directed against these diseases."

DEMOCRATS TO OPEN WITH ONE-TWO PUNCH

BATTILING for election of Democratic candidates in the November elections, former President Harry Truman will speak at a major fund-raising dinner in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 16, and Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 presidential candidate, will speak in six states, starting in Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8.
